We choose to use the Coravin wine preservation to ensure our premium wines show their best.

Japanese sake might just be the most iconic wine after grape wine, and it's fame also carries many misconceptions. Sake is not a spirit, nor wine, technically it is closer to a beer. The alcohol level is generally quite moderate.... similar to an Australian Shiraz. And although there are exceptions to this rule... sake should be enjoyed chilled rather than warm.

Thailand has been making its 'rice wine' for a long time, but only recently has 'Sato' come into its own. Showcasing local glutinous rice varieties, and less polishing of grains, producing a more robust flavour profile.

Sake is an exercise in subtlety... and its pairings should take this into account. Sato however, can handle stronger and more varied flavours.

Provence is renowned for its pink wines, but rosés are made in various styles around the world. For food pairings, think of rosés like you would white wines, or enjoy a glass of pink before dinner instead of Champagne.

Our selection of pink wines is listed by weight, starting with the lighter and more delicate options.

French Sauvignon Blanc is mineral-driven, delicate, and may be somewhat restrained. It's on the opposite end of the spectrum to New Zealand Sauvignon Blanc, which is aromatic, bold, often with lots of green and tropical fruit notes.

Bordeaux whites and their ilk are blended with Semillon and Muscadelle and generally aged in oak barrels for more weight and complexity.

Rhône white wines are like a flavour party in your glass. Luxuriously rich and complex, but with balanced acidity. They're medium to full-bodied, often with a creamy or oily texture if they've seen some oak or extended lees aging. Expect vibrant notes of stone fruits like peach and apricot, citrus zest, and floral aromas, with occasional hints of honey or nuts. Chenin Blanc is rich and dry, redolent of baked pears, quince and floral.

CHENIN BLANC & RHÔNE WHITES

If you're bored with Chardonnay... try a Chenin or Rhône white, they are listed from lightest to more full-bodied.

2021	Chenin Blanc, SATO	Schisteux	Central Otago, New Zealand	3,400	iconic producer
2023	Chenin Blanc, BELLINGHAM	Bernard Series Old Vine	Coastal Region, South Africa	2,800

Chardonnay is a fickle mistress. Depending on her provenance and the winemaker's mood, she can vary greatly.

CHARDONNAY

Chablis gives us elegant and lighter whites, with minimal oak. Burgundian Chardonnay is luxurious, generally more full-bodied, the archetype of the variety. Australian and American Chardonnays are the new emerging wunderkind, generally in a slightly more full-bodied style, with judicious oak treatment.

To help you decide, our Chardonnays are listed from light to full-bodied.

2024	LOUIS LATOUR	La Chanfleure	Chablis, France	2,900
2023	DOMAINE PHILIPPE GOULLEY	Chablis Reserve	Burgundy, France	2,900

Why natural? Natural wines are celebrated for their minimal intervention, focusing on expressing the true essence of the vineyard and grape. This results in wines that offer a pure and authentic expression. These wines are made for food.

The amber wines (white grapes fermented with skins) are listed in order of days fermented on these skins, the more days, the more structure and tannin. Treat these wines as you would a red wine when pairing with food.

Pinot Noir is an exercise in subtlety and elegance, regardless of origin. This versatile grape pairs well with various foods. Stick to the Old World if you prefer savoury and light-bodied interpretations. If you're just getting into Pinot Noir, try the more weighty and fruit-forward wines from New Zealand or the USA.

Our Pinot Noirs are laid out in order of weight and intensity.

Tempranillo is the iconic Spanish grape, celebrated for its versatility and robust flavor profile. Whether you prefer the bold wines from the young 'cool kids' or the elegant and refined old school classics like Murrieta, Tempranillo consistently shines, particularly when paired with red meat dishes.

SPANISH GRAPES

For those seeking a lighter, more elegant choice, Mencia and Graciano are excellent alternatives. Mencia offers a fresh, light and vibrant profile, while Graciano brings a delicate and aromatic touch.

Grenache, also known as Garnacha, is one of the most widely planted red wine grape varieties in the world. It ripens late, requiring hot, dry conditions like those found in Spain, where the grape is believed to have originated.

GRENACHE & BLENDS

Grenache can be light and fruity or rich and full-bodied, depending on how it's grown and vinified. Its vibrant fruit flavours, often accompanied by spicy and herbal notes, make it a popular choice for blending as well as for single-varietal wines. Whether you prefer a light, refreshing wine or a bold, intense one, Grenache offers a diverse array of options to explore.

Our selection is listed from lightest to more full-bodied.

Syrah and Shiraz are two names for the same grape variety. In Australia, it's called Shiraz, while the rest of the world knows it as Syrah.

SHIRAZ & BLENDS

Cooler climates generally produce more elegant examples, characterised by subtle flavours and refined textures. In contrast, warmer climates, such as the Barossa Valley, showcase more full-bodied wines with rich, bold flavours.

We are proud to showcase some of the best of South Australian Shiraz, the boss's hometown.

Merlot, the crowd-pleaser of red wines, hails from Bordeaux and boasts smooth, velvety vibes with flavors of black cherry, plum, and chocolate. It's medium to full-bodied with moderate tannins, making it incredibly approachable. Popular in France, California, Chile, and Italy, Merlot pairs well with grilled meats, pasta, and cheeses—perfect for any occasion. Our Merlots are roughly listed from lighter to more full-bodied.

MERLOT & MALBEC

In Australia, Cabernet Sauvignon from spots like Yarra Valley and Margaret River, is like a bold Aussie surfer - rich, intense, and full of dark fruit swagger, with a hint of eucalyptus coolness.

France's Bordeaux offers a refined version, with high tannins and flavours of blackcurrant, cedar, and green bell pepper, shaped by a cooler climate that adds acidity and earthy notes.

In Italy, particularly Italy's Super Tuscans, it's often blended with Sangiovese, resulting in a structured wine with cherry, blackcurrant, and herbs, influenced by the Mediterranean climate.

In Australia we call dessert wines 'stickies' because of their sweetness. Our stickies are listed from lightest, to sweet and rich... but always with a balanced acidity. Don't stick to the rules. Enjoy a Moscato D'asti as a lightly sweet pre-dinner drink. Too full after dinner? Treat yourself to a glass of sticky to round off the evening.

DESSERT WINE

Both our Ports come from excellent producers, and outstanding vintages. Treat yourself.
